

We have moved to an area in the past year that does not have K-Love coverage. We miss it! There is a local Christian station here but it is a far cry from commercial free K-Love. Travel is a major part of my job in east Oklahoma, and whenever I cross into a K-Love area my radio is pre-set to pick them up. It is a comfort to know that loved ones far away are listening to the same encouragement as I, in the office I listen on-line just to feel that connection. Many times listeners have called in to state how finding K-Love has helped them in so many ways, even one young lady who was contemplating suicide heard a song that touched her heart and healed her hurting in such a way that she now lives a changed life. She likely would have just been another teen-age statistic had she found radio silence, or worse some of the stuff out there today that would have "encouraged" her into a very different outcome. Please do all you can to keep K-Love on the air in every possible community.

Respectfully,

Goldie West
